

See a professional boxing title fight for $5

2009-09-02

Visitors to the New York State Fair today, have an opportunity to see a world title boxing match...for only $5.

People who have paid admission to get onto the Fairgrounds today can go to the Fair Box Office and buy a $5 ticket to Fight Night at the Fair, the professional boxing event that starts at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Mohegan Sun Grandstand.

The night is headlined by women's boxing legend Christy Martin, a two-time world champion, who will be fighting Dakota Stone for a WBC title. It also features Jason "Big Six" Estrada, a former US Olympian; and James McGirt Jr., the son of former world champion James "Buddy" McGirt.

There will be three other fights and a chance to meet with international boxing celebrities.

This offer is available only to people who are already here at the Fair today, and the special tickets will only be available at the Fair box office.